

Jacob Marconi, a senior at Cazenovia High School, has been selected as the Cazenovia Lions Club Student of the Month for September 2018. Jacob is the son of Christine and Fred Marconi of Erieville.

Jacob's nomination, by faculty member Elise M. LaHart, reads as follows:

"Jacob Marconi is a well-rounded student who always produces quality work in his academic classes while also being an active member of the varsity golf team. In addition to that, he started his own landscaping business and works part time after school and on the weekends. On top of all that, he has completed over 150 hours of community service, most of it through a variety of activities related to his church. Beyond his good grades, he is kind to everyone! He interacts well with his peers and the adults in the building. When he was in my homeroom as a sophomore, he would be the student who rushed to help with the door if my hands were full. I have never heard him utter a harsh word to anyone. I always thought he was an exceptional school citizen, but it wasn't until I had him as a student this year that I realized how dedicated he is to his studies too. If I had to sum up Jacob with a few words, I would include kind, friendly, motivated, intelligent, caring and hard-working. Basically, any positive description you could think of would fit Jacob. It honestly makes my day when I have Jacob in class since his positivity rubs off on those around him. He is very deserving of the Student of the Month award, and I recommend him without reservation."

The Cazenovia Lions Club is pleased to recognize Jacob for his service to his classmates and the school.
